A Quilting Pienie.

On the 24th of August there will quilting and pickie combined at the resilence of Mr. Jathes S. Barnes, and by the hour of ten there was quite a number assembled, each family bringing their lunch baskets. Immediately after arriving they began to quilt on two beautiful quilts, which were piecedaby the ladies of New Bethel vicinity for the pastor of New Bethel church and his estimable wife, to be presented to him on the second Saturday in September, the regular church meeting day. The ladies quilted continously until the hour of twelve at which time a sumptuous dinner was prepared and served under a beautiful arbor, which was enjoyed by all who participated. After dinner, each one feeling that he did ample justice to a well prepared meal, returned to her quilting and worked steadily, finishing one quilt and nearly the second.

All were welcomed and made to feel quite at home by the pleasant and agreeable host and hostess. Among those

MINOR NOT IN IT.

The senatorial race just ended in this district was one of the hottest ever known in this section. The friends of Gross and Richardson, the two contestants, have been riding day and night ovet three counties in the interests of their respective candidates, while the three candidates themselves have lost no time speaking and urging their friends to come out and help them. While the race was a hot one and bitterly contested on all sides, we think everybody is satisfied with the result and the best of feeling will prevail so soon as the smoke of the battle has blown away. Gross' majority is small it is true, but it is enough. The News is satisfied, and is not disposed to crow or make any big to do over the matter. Our man got it and we are satisfied. We feel better we suppose than the fellows who were downed and that's quite natural. We've been there and know just how they feel. Now let's forget the past; shake hands over the chasm, be friends and rally to the support of the man who the people have said shall be our standard bearer to carry democracy to victory in Novem-

NOTES Hancock and Breckenridge is a good combination. Hardinsburg did her duty nobly and we are proud of her.

Jesse Whitworth makes a rattling good nominating speech. Minor was not in it but be had much fun as the next man. The young Democrats seem to have things all their own way in this county. All the wrapping paper Charles Martin had was brought into requisition to "figure" out majorities. Gross never gave it up once; he always said "I'm all right, boys, don't be scared: I've got 'em downed.' Say, Jeff, how is it now? And you, Ben Poindexter? Take our advice next time, boys, and get right. Gus Richardson ought to be satisfied with the result. He made a good race in his home county, which shows that his people are with him and this is something to be proud of.

Roland O'Bryan, of the Messenger, they say, takes it harder than any man in Meade. It is Roland's first experience in the business. Just wait, young man, until you've been in it for fifteen years and it won't go so hard with you.

Drawing on Our Markets.

The London Times, in the course of a long leader on the dismal argricultural prospects of Great Britain, says that foreign competitition depresses the price of cattle and corn. The imports of animals and meat, it says, will swamp the markets this year. Great Britain will be more than ever dependent on foreign supplies and will require at least 28,000,000 quarters of wheat from abroad. France, it adds, must import more than twice as much as she usually does. As to Germany, that country has already begun to draw on the American markets for supplies. When nations thus bid against each other, the article says, there is a fair chance that prices will advance.

Immediately after the Democratic Convention adjourned at Hardinsburg last Monday. Hon. G. W. Beard took the stand and said he had something to say to the taxpayers of the Hardinsburg district regarding the railroad suit which was recently decided against the taxpayers. Mr. Beard said in substance that ne had just received a letter from the attorneys in the case saying that if the taxpayers desired to take an appeal in the case they would have to put up $125 to cover costs, and that the amount would have to be forth-coming immediately or they would lose their recourse. Mr. Beard went on to say that he had no more interest in the matter than any other one taxpayer and that he merely laid the case before them for their action and consideration. He said that he had daughters, of Louisville, are the guests spent a good deal of money fighting the case and that he didn't care about taking | week. the responsibility of assuming any more, other than his proportion.
